Book Guide

For Children Birth to Age 3

Questions

- The rabbits want to be friends with Bear. What do they do to show him they want to be friends? How do you show someone you want to be their friend?
- What did Bear want?
- At the end of the book, the animals are friends. What happened?

Activities

Feeling Faces

Bear has a lot of different feelings and makes faces throughout the book. Using paper plates or just face shaped paper, make several faces that show Happy, Sad, Angry, Frustrated, and Surprised. Cut out holes for eyes. Have your child hold the face mask up to her face and then move around acting out how that face would make her move. (For example: Angry people might stomp their feet. Happy people might dance.) Talk about how you can tell how people feel by the way their face looks.

Friend Basket

Talk with your child about how we can show people we like them. Think about what you would put in a basket to give a friend. Maybe you could make cookies and deliver them to someone. Maybe you could draw a picture. If you find out that someone is sick, you could bring them flowers and some soup. Work together to come up with a surprise for a friend and deliver it.
